

Designer Bio: Troy Anthony

Troy Anthony, a graduate of Fashion Institute of Marangoni in Milan, Italy who also received a Bachelor's degree in Fashion Design and business marketing from International Academy of Design in Tampa, FL. Troy Anthony is an accomplished fashion designer who has shown his collections globally in Paris, Milan, and New York City. He's known for his wearable couture. Troy Anthony is also a Business Analyst with over 10 years of experience in corporate leadership working with healthcare companies and financial institutions.

Troy Anthony is passionate about mentoring the youth and a volunteer who helps low-income families find housing.

Worn by international ambassadors, political dignitaries and news anchors, Troy Anthony's designs have graced the runways of Paris, Milan, New York Fashion Week, Tampa, Art Basel Miami and Hartford Fashion to name a few. With 20 years of fashion industry experience, he first learned to sew as a tween shadowing his grandmother on her vintage sewing machine and was hailed as a fashion trendsetter in high school who viewed every day as a fashion show.

A master of the drape and a virtuoso of textiles, Anthony majestically brings bias cuts and pleating to an exciting crescendo achieving an alluring fit that skillfully sculpts to the unique body types of his clients. He achieves this by combining his European tailoring skills acquired during his studies at Milan's Istituto of Marangoni with his innate ability to marry fabrics and textures resulting in a classic look with the perfect drape.

Featured in countless publications including Daily Mail 24, i-Fashion Magazine, Mighty Magazine, Thoughts, and The Hartford Courant, Troy has also been a featured guest speaker at UCONN, and on podcasts, television and radio talk shows.

He currently has a Boutique called "Anthony's Fashion" in Hartford, Connecticut where he helps his clients dress for success. He offers his latest collections, Bridal, tailoring and alterations out of his store.

You can also find him in his Troy Anthony Design house in Washington D.C. where he serves his DMV clients with wearable couture made to measure.

My Vision:

My mission is to empower women through fashion by educating, innovating, and enhancing their personal style, so they feel confident, elegant, and chic. With my FFMW collection, I aim to showcase how women can remain Fierce, Fabulous, and Fashionable beyond 40. I'm dedicated to fostering a fashion community that builds confidence and encourages support through fashion tips, secrets, and DIY ideas, helping every woman embrace her inner beauty. Our goal is to make women feel secure and confident in their bodies and shapes, using innovative, functional fashion that promotes self-assurance and success.

Find out more at www.TroyAnthony.com

Book your Fashion consultation.